

BUSINESS PITCH

(PHOTOGRAPHER)

WHAT SHOULD A GOOD BUSINESS PITCH FOR A PHOTOGRAPHER INCLUDE?

1. Who you are and what you do

"I'm a London-based photographer specializing in fashion, portrait, and event photography. I help brands, individuals, and creatives tell their story through powerful visuals."

2. The problem or market need

"In a world driven by visual content, many creatives and businesses struggle to present themselves professionally online or in print."

3. Your solution (photography services)

"I offer high-quality, personalized photo sessions – from model portfolios and editorial shoots to corporate events and creative campaigns. I combine technical precision with storytelling to deliver images that stand out."

4. Target audience

"My clients include fashion designers, event organizers, musicians, models, small business owners, and influencers."

5. Style and unique approach

"What sets me apart is my ability to adapt to different environments and bring out natural emotion and detail in every frame – whether I'm shooting on location or in studio."

6. Equipment and technical capabilities (optional)

"I shoot on professional full-frame cameras with prime lenses and portable lighting. I also offer retouching, prints, and digital delivery for all projects."

7. Portfolio, achievements, or publications

"My work has been featured in [Example Magazine] and used by brands for campaigns, lookbooks, and social media. I've photographed events at venues like [example], working with over 100 clients to date."

8. Your goals or future plans

"I'm currently expanding into short-form video content and plan to launch a mobile portrait studio for on-the-go campaigns and pop-ups.”

9. Needs or invitation to collaborate

“I’m looking to connect with fashion brands, agencies, and event organizers who value strong visual identity and are ready to elevate their image through creative photography.”

Mini Elevator Pitch (under 30 seconds)

“Hi, I’m a freelance photographer based in London. I specialize in fashion, portraits, and events, helping people and brands stand out through striking, story-driven imagery. I’m open to bookings, collaborations, and creative campaigns.”